BRING CLYDE AND BONNIE HOME SOLDIERS FIRE ON TOLEDO STRIKERS

VIOLENCE BREAKS
OUT AGAIN TODAY
IN TOLEDO STRIKE

NATIONAL GUARDSMEN ARE PLACED ON DUTY AT AUTO-
LITE PLANT ATTACKED

TOLEDO, May 24.—(P)—
Two men were reported dead as gunfire of national guard troops continued at the strike-ridden plant of the Electric Auto-Lite Co.

The possibility that rioters also were using guns was seen as a guard was included in the wounded brought to St. Vincent's. He had been shot below the ear.

Casualties from the gunfire mounted rapidly as ambulances and private cars carried the wounded to hospitals.

One man killed had been shot
four times.

At 3:30 p.m. Coroner Frank G.
Kreft said he had been informed that three had been killed.

Police officials also were informed that three had been killed. One was reported dead in each of the two hospitals, while the body of the third was reported to be lying in the street in the battle zone.

TOLEDO, O., May 24.—(P)— Fresh violence broke out at the Electric Auto-Lite company plant here today when strikers and sympathizers began throwing rocks at Ohio national guardsmen and the guards responded with a tear gas barrage.

The jeering, cursing crowd which pushed forward at several street intersections snatched up several grenades before they exploded and threw them back at the unmasked militiamen.

Two gas barrages had been discharged during the morning by soldiers when crowds refused to disperse, but the rock throwing

National guard troops, flashing action today against strike disorders in two sectors.

Ohio guardsmen were called out to restore order at the Toledo plant of the Electric Auto-Lite company, where a series of riots
raged through the night.

At Minneapolis three regiments of militia were mobilized to prevent further outbreaks in the truck driver's strike.

The Toledo tumult was marked by pistol shots, flying bricks and tear gas. Some 3,000 strikers and their supporters stormed the plant and kept 1,500 employees imprisoned in it all night. Police and company guards hurled tear gas bombs at the rioters, but the crowd held its ground and increased in numbers.

Many persons were injured, several requiring hospital treatment.

The troops at Minneapolis were called out as a precautionary

BILLIE MACE IS SEEKING RELEASE

SISTER OF BONNIE PARKER
WANTS TO ATTEND FUN-ERAL IN DALLAS

FORT WORTH, May 24.—(P)— Attorneys for Mrs. Billie Mace, 21, were expected to seek her release on writ of habeas corpus today
so she could attend the funeral of her notorious sister, Bonnie Parker, who was slain by officers in western Louisiana Wednesday.

In order to lay predicate for the habeas corpus action, her lawyers, Clyde Mays of this city and Fred Harris of Dallas, forced the Justice of the Peace J.
H. Faulkner, although District Attorney Jesse Martin said the State was not ready for the hearing.

The examining trial was on the murder charge against Mrs. Mace for the slaying of Highway Patrolman H. D. Murphy on a side road near Grapevine on Easter Sunday. She also is under charge for the slaying of Patrolman E.
B. Wheeler, who was Murphy's riding partner.

Unless Mrs. Mace wins her freedom on a writ of habeas corpus it is doubtful that she will be permitted to attend her sister's funeral. It was stated at the Sheriff's office she probably will not be taken to Dallas under guard.

The only witness at the examining trial, Mrs. Lelia Plummer, an aunt, corroborated Mrs. Mace's alibi.

time to cause its immediate dissolution.

William O. Thompson, a member of the board, accused Lowell Mason, the board's counsel, of tampering with the records. There were remarks about Mason's one time connection with the Samuel Gompers. One thing led to another, resulting in an abrogation of speaking terms among several members of the board.

The Darrow-Johnson ride was in the NRA chief's limousine. The administrator sent his limousine for the aged defender of little business, and together they rolled over the highways around Washington. The only other person along was Miss Frances Robinson, Johnson's assistant.

Senator Nye (R-N.D.), a supporter of Darrow, fired another shaft at the NRA, after demanding that congress stay in session until existing "abuses" are corrected.

He was convicted in Throckmorton, Stonewall, McLennan and Stephens counties of theft, burglary, burglary of a private residence at night and chicken theft.
General paroles were granted the others.

Center picture is that of Barrow on a stretcher being removed from the death car to the morgue in Arcadia, and the bottom picture is that of Bonnie Parker, constant companion of Barrow in many of his raids during the past two years. On the left at top is Frank Hamer, long one of the outstanding members of the Texas Ranger force, but who has been out since the present state administration took office. Hamer was made a member of the State Highway patrol for the sole purpose of hunting down Clyde and Bonny. In the center on the left is Deputy Sheriff Bob Alcorn of Dallas county and the lower picture is that of another Dallas county deputy sheriff, Ted Hinton. Hamer, Alcorn and Hinton participated in the slaying of the noted criminal pair.

NOTORIOUS OUTLAWS IN SOUTHWEST ARE BEING ELIMINATED

PRETTY BOY FLOYD BE-LIEVED SUFFERING FROM OLD WOUND POISONING

OKLAHOMA CITY, May 24.—(P)—
The slaying of Clyde Barrow and Bonnie Parker in Louisiana was at long last only a few of the most notorious outlaws that for the last year or two have left a cross-cross trail of crime in the Southwest while dodging the law's retributive "steel."

Names looming large on police blotters and federal identification cards include: Charles (Pretty Boy) Floyd, Jim Clark, Frank
Delmar, Richard Galatas and Adam Richter.

Clark and Delmar escaped from the Kansas State prison at Lensing on January 19, with Bob Brady and four other convicts who later were either killed by officers or recaptured.

Floyd, Galatas, a Little Rock man, was captured in the Highway and crashed into the pole.

Comments Varied
On Death Barrow
Bonnie Parker

By The Associated Press.
Comments on the killing of Clyde Barrow and Bonnie Parker:

"I'm glad they went out like they did," said Roy Thornton, convict husband of Bonnie, serving a sentence for robbery at a prison farm at Houston, Tex.

Mr. Henry Barrow of Dallas, Tex., mother of Clyde—"And I prayed only last night that I might see him alive again, just once more."

Mrs. E. M. Stamps of Carlsbad,
N. M., aunt of Bonnie—"I am glad she is dead, but I am sorry she had to go the way she did, without repenting, because she surely is in hell."

Frank Hamer, strapping former Texas Ranger, leader of the ambush—"I hated to hurt a woman, especially when she was sitting down. However, if it wouldn't have been her, it would have been us."

Mrs. Billie Mace, sister of Bonnie, held in jail at Fort Worth, Tex., on murder charges—"I was not surprised; I have been expecting it to end this way."

Blanche Barrow, inmate of the Missouri prison farm for women, whose husband, Marvin (Buck) Barrow, brother of Clyde, was killed by police near Dexter, Ia., last July—"I'm glad they were both killed; it was the easiest way out."

Four Civilian
Corps Workers
Electrocuted

SALISBURY, Mo., May 24.—(P)—
Four civilian conservation corps youths were killed and five others were burned, one critically, last night when a truck on which they were riding to a dance struck a pole and dislodged a high tension wire carrying 33,000 volts of electricity.

The dead are George Forbes,
18, Allen Murray, 17, Nick Kavachick, 18, all of Kansas City, and Walter Brown, 18, of Less Summit, Mo.

Jesse Jamison, driver of the truck, said he was attempting to pass a motor car when he saw another machine approaching. He said he pulled sharply to the right and the truck careened off the highway and crashed into the
pole.

The kidnapper was freed from her desert prison when officers were directed to it by an anonymous letter from Chicago.
No ransom was paid.

EMERGENCY RELIEF

TEXAS DELEGATION AND
HOPKINS AGREE ON PRO-JECTS DROUGHT AREA

KANSAS CITY, May 24.— (P)—Full agreement was reached here today between Federal Relief Administrator Harry L. Hopkins and a Texas relief delegation on projects calling for expenditure of $2,670,000 for materials and approximately $400,000 monthly for labor in 25 or more drought-stricken counties.

An ambulance arrived in the early dawn with Clyde's body and his consort's body followed several hours later. The undertakers, in separate parts of the city, said the families informed them funeral services would be held tomorrow.

Mrs. Emma Parker, Bonnie's
mother, said she was superstitious about leaving a grave open overnight and decided to delay the services until tomorrow. Harry Barrow, who went to Arcadia, La., to return the body of his son, and Mrs. Barrow were in seclusion, apparently in the homes of friends.

Clyde will be buried in the West Dallas cemetery, one of the oldest in the city and formerly the burial place of the old French colonists.

It is located in the far western edge of the city and the Barrow family plot is toward the front, near a new cutoff road to the Dallas-Forth Worth pike. It is on a rocky hillside and attendance frequently is required to blast out the stone to make a grave.

WASHINGTON, May 24.—(P)— Today brought disclosure of a faint approach to the 1935
naval conference, but congress was too busy with tariff and deposit legislation to pay immediate heed.

Grain crops were helped in the San Angelo section but farmers said the precipitation was inadequate for their needs. The San Angelo region received rainfall varying from one-eighth inch at San Angelo to 2.50 inches at Menard, Miles, Eden, and Ballinger.
Denton and vicinity had 1.16 inches and crops were greatly benefited. Abilene had one-half of an inch and more rain was in prospect.

Thunder showers fell most of the night in the Dallas area, pre-

Light showers continued at intervals today.

JAPAN OBJECTS TO SWANSON'S
INSISTENCE UPON MAINTENANCE OF OLD TREATY NAVAL RATIOS

By GLENN BABB
(Associated Press Foreign Staff.)

TOKYO, May 24.—(P)—Secretary Swanson's insistence on maintenance of the 5-5-3 treaty naval ratios as among the United States, Great Britain and Japan, evoked a strong official expression of Japan's refusal to agree to an extension of present limitations and agreements beyond 1936.

Japan insists that the Washington and London treaties be replaced by new agreements fairer and more reasonable and affording Japan genuine assurance of security.
said Admiral Tauneyoshi Sakano, chief of the navy office's propaganda bureau, in a written statement to the press.

"The Washington ratios menace the Japanese empire's safety," the statement said. "The Washington Treaty was framed to meet special conditions immediately after the war and now long outdated."

Armament's compacts must be offered in accordance with standard political, scientific and technical conditions. The London treaty was a temporary compact and was not intended to extend past 1936.
Both treaties are undesirable in many respects. We insist upon new agreements.

Sakano did not mention the matter of Japanese naval parity with Great Britain and the United States, upon which he is expected to insist at the next naval conference.

However, vernacular newspapers quoted anonymous naval authorities as insisting upon "agreements based upon the principles of equality" and "equal rights in national defense."

The American navy secretary's statement at a Washington press conference yesterday that he saw no reason for modification of the treaty so as to grant parity to Japan and his announcement that the United States will "consider" extending her naval bases in the Pacific if Japan builds beyond existing treaty ratios was the explanation of the day in the press.

Trail Of Southwest's Most Noted Criminal Pair Ended By Death

SHREVEPORT, La., May 23.—(P)—The eight year trail of murder and robbery of Clyde Barrow, dangerous bandit of the southwest, was ended today beside Bonnie Parker, his woman companion in crime, in a hail of bullets from a sheriff's posse, fifty miles east of here near the town of Gibsland.

Both man and woman were killed instantly before they could fire a shot and their bodies and automobile were riddled with bullets. They drove into a posse's ambush, arranged by the former captain of Texas rangers, Frank Hamer, who had followed Barrow's trail relentlessly.

With the posse, heavily armed, hiding in the brush along the paved highway, Barrow's car broke over the horizon racing at an 85 mile rate. As the car approached, an officer yelled "halt." Barrow and the woman answered by reaching for their guns and were met by a fusillade from a dozen guns. Bonnie Parker died with her head between her knees and a machine gun in her lap. Barrow slumped behind the steering wheel with a revolver in his grip.

Crashes Embankment

The automobile careened from the road and smashed into an embankment. The officers continued to fire until the car virtually was shot to pieces and the bodies were riddled.

The bandits' trail was picked up this morning by Hamer and three Texas ranger associates in Bossier parish, where Barrow was reported to have relatives residing. They followed the bandit car to Bienville parish where the rangers were joined by Sheriff Henderson Jordan and a staff of deputies.

The officers got ahead of the bandit car and laid in waiting until Barrow ran his car into the ambush.

Barrow and his companion had led officers in a wild race over half a dozen states. Frequently they were cornered but either eluded their pursuers or shot it out. They replenished their funds by robbing banks and business houses.

Had Killed Dozen

Barrow was wanted for a dozen killings and was regarded as one of the nation's most dangerous killers, shooting at the bat of an eye and fleeing in fast automobiles.

Bonnie Parker was charged by officers with participation in most of Barrow's crimes. Officers said she was as much on the trigger as her associate and was just as elusive. For weeks officers in several states were prepared to shoot Barrow and his companion on sight.

Barrow broke into the police records in 1926 when he was arrested in Dallas for an automobile theft. In 1930, still holding the reputation as a small time crook, he was sentenced to the Texas penitentiary for 14 years for armed robbery and theft.

Slaying Confirmed To Dallas Sheriff

DALLAS, May 23.—(P)—The slaying of Clyde Barrow and Bonnie Parker was confirmed in a telephone call today from Ted Hinton, deputy sheriff, to R. A. Schmidt, Dallas county sheriff, from Gibsland, La.

Clyde and Bonnie were killed by Deputy Hinton and Deputy Bob Alcorn who, with two former Texas Rangers, had been keeping watch on the gangsters' supposed rendezvous near Gibsland.

The report received here said that the couple drove up to the hideout at 9:15 and when they saw the officers, they drew their guns but before they could shoot, the deputies and the former rangers felled them with a burst of gunfire.

The deputy said the scene of the killing was the home of a relative of the Barrows. The officers had been hiding near the place six weeks, taking up their post soon after being commissioned to track down the desperado pair, dead or alive.

Sheriff Schmidt left at once for Shreveport to join Lee Simmons, superintendent of the Texas prison system at Huntsville, Texas, to get the bodies.

A few days ago he was reported in the Mississippi Gulf coast and officers believed he headed for the home of relatives in Northwest Louisiana.

In the wrecked bandit car, officers found three army rifles, two sawed-off automatic shotguns, a machine gun, a dozen pistols and large quantities of ammunition.

Gov. O. K. Allen was given a graphic description of the slayings over long distance by Sheriff Jordan and Governor Allen officially congratulated the officers in the name of the state.

The governor was told that shortly after 9 a. m., the officers, who were hidden in the brush along the roadside, recognized the grey sedan in which they knew the two were travelling. Barrow was driving.

Some of the officers quickly walked out into the road, the governor was told, and called for a halt, but Barrow reached for a sawed-off shotgun and stepped hard on the accelerator. As the little car leaped forward, the officers poured a barrage of fire into the car and the two inside jumped over and the car careened into a ditch and against an embankment.

Hundreds of people from the countryside swarmed to the scene to see an end of two of America's most hunted criminals.

John Abney, a citizen of Gibsland, eight miles from the scene of the killings, told a graphic story of the transportation of the dead bodies to Arcadia in their dead car.

Bodies Left in Car.

The officers brought the bodies through here about 11:30, he said. "They just left the bodies in the car and tied it to another car and hauled it to Arcadia.

Bonnie Parker's head was almost shot off, and it just dangled.

Barrow was badly shot up. There must have been 15 or 20 bullet holes in the windshield of the car. The sides of the car were just peppered full of holes.

"Several people have noted Barrow's car in the last three or four days. It was an almost new car (of a light make—Ford V8) and was sandy in color. It had an Arkansas license and a big trunk in the back."

"The officer's had automatic rifles, sawed-off shotguns and pistols."

The officers had been hiding along the road since 3 o'clock this morning and I heard an ex-convict coming out in the same way.

"The ex-convict went out in the road to flag the car and when Barrow reached for his gun that's when the officers fired."

BONNIE PARKER PREDICTED DEATH IN WRITTEN VERSE

SAYS WOULD "BRING GRIEF TO A FEW" AND "RELIEF TO THE LAW"

DALLAS, May 24.—(P)—Bonnie Parker had a premonition months ago that she and Clyde Barrow would be killed; and she predicted in a poem that their deaths would "bring grief to a few" and "relief to the law."

Here is the verse she wrote: You have read the story of Jesse James. Of how he lived and died, If you still are in need of something to read, Here is the story of Bonnie and Clyde.

Now Bonnie and Clyde are the Barrow gang. I'm sure you all have read How they rob and steal, And how those who squeal, Are usually found dying or dead.

There are lots of untruths to their write-ups, They are not so merciless as that, They hate all the laws, The stool pigeons, spotters and rats.

They class them as cold-blooded killers, They say they are heartless and mean, But I say this with pride That I once knew Clyde When he was honest and upright and clean.

But the law fooled around, Kept tracking him down And locking him up in a cell, Till he said to me, "I will never be free, So I will meet a few of them in hell."

This road was so dimly lighted There was no highway signs to guide, But they made up their minds If the roads were all blind They wouldn't give up till they died.

The road gets dimmer and dimmer, Sometimes you can hardly see, Still it's fight, man to man, And do all you can, For they know they can never be free.

If they try to act like citizens And rent them a nice little flat, About the third night they are invited to fight. By a sub-machine gun rat-tat-tat.

If a policeman is killed in Dallas And they have no clues for a guide, If they can't find a friend They just wipe the slate clean And hang it on Bonnie and Clyde.

Two crimes have been done in America Not accredited to the Barrow mob, For they had no hand in the kidnaping demand. Or the Kansas City Depot job.

A newsboy once said to his bud-dy, "I wish Old Clyde would get jumped."

"In this awful hard times We might make a few dimes If five or six Laws got bumped".

The police haven't got the report yet, Clyde sent a wireless today Saying, "we have a peace flag of white.

The deputy said the scene of the hideout at 9:15 and when they saw the officers, they drew their guns but before they could shoot, the deputies and the former rangers felled them with a burst of gunfire.

The police haven't got the report yet.

"We stretch but at night, We have joined the NRA."

They don't think they are too tough or desperate, They know the law always wins.

They have been shot at before But they do not ignore the body of the car, which was pep-

From heartbreak some people have suffered, From weariness some people have died.

The two former Rangers riding the deputies were Frank Hamer, former captain and M. T. Gandy, Simmons employed them six weeks ago and instructed them to devote their full time to the hunt.

Clyde and Bonnie Put on the Spot

DALLAS, May 23.—(P)—The Dallas Times Herald today said it was informed by an unimpeachable authority that Clyde Barrow and Bonnie Parker had been put on the spot by the father, of an escaped Texas convict, who hoped thereby to gain clemency for his offspring.

The newspaper said that a Texas prison official learned that the father of the convict who recently escaped while serving a 99-year sentence, lived in Louisiana and perfected an agreement whereby "consideration" would be given the escaped convict if the father would co-operate in having the desperado spotted.

Six weeks ago, the Times Herald said, the plan was perfected for that period the officers had lain in wait for the wary pair.

North Corsicana Missionary Society In All-Day Meeting

North Corsicana Woman's Missionary Society members meet in an all-day session Tuesday at the parsonage. The meeting, at the new church, will be a picnic.

At the noon hour a covered luncheon was served cafeteria style. The table was beautiful in white with low arrangement of nasturtiums in blue bowls at the center.

It being Rev. Marney's birthday, Sister W. F. Horger presented him with a large white cake which was served to the guests with ice-cream in the afternoon. We are hoping to celebrate many more birthdays for Rev. Marney. Will say, just here, that we feel that Mrs. Marney is also indispensable in our work. Her consecration plus her ability to teach and lead makes her an invaluable worker.

Her influence and interest is made to count in all our church activity.

The quilt being quilted was a beautiful patch-work one called "The Green Front."

Barrow Driving at High Speed When Fired Upon By Officers From Ambush

ARCADIA, La., May 23.—(P)—B. P. Theus, of Arcadia, returning at 11 a. m. from the scene of the slaying, stated that an officer familiar with Barrow and the Parker woman positively identified them, and said when fired on the couple was traveling about 85 miles an hour and the woman had a machine gun in her lap.

There were only two persons in the car, according to B. P. Theus, well known Arcadia citizen, who went to the scene soon after the killing. He said that officers were positive that the pair killed was Barrow and the Parker woman. He said the woman was holding a machine gun.

The bodies were left in the car until the arrival of Dr. J. L. Wade, Bienville parish coroner.

The car was said to have been traveling at a rate of approximately 85 miles per hour and apparently after the fusilade of officers' shot, the car careened into an embankment at the left side of the road, and was wrecked.

The pair apparently had gone through Gibsland and was heading southwest on the Gibsland-Castor road when the officers called on the speeding pair to halt.

The bodies were being brought to Arcadia, 17 miles east of the scene of the killing. Their riddled car also was being brought to Arcadia. The car bore a Texas license.

The shooting, according to the Arcadians, occurred about six miles west of the old Mt. Lebanon community, once the center of great educational and religious activity, and about 2 1/2 miles from Sailes.

Sheriff Jordan of Bienville Parish said he had received a tip that the First National Bank of Arcadia was to be robbed Wednesday or Thursday and notified Texas officers.

Sheriff Jordan said the pair came from Benton, La., yesterday afternoon and passed through Gibsland about four or five o'clock in the afternoon and again this morning shortly before the killing.

The bandits were heavily armed, Sheriff Jordan reported. They carried three machine guns, five automatics, seven shot guns and the two sawed off shot guns they were holding when the shooting started at the top of the hill.

The shooting started at the top of the hill was traveling south from Gibsland, having come from Arcadia through Gibsland. It had also passed through Mt. Lebanon and to a point about two miles from Sailes.

LOCAL COMMANDER AMERICAN LEGION DISCUSSES POPPIES

The memorial poppies which the women of the American Legion Auxiliary will distribute here on "Poppy Day," Saturday, May 26th will recall vivid pictures to the minds of World War veterans who served overseas, according to Geo. Baum, commander of Johnson-Wiggins Post of the American Legion. The poppies blooming amid the waste and destruction of the battle front stand among the surest symbols of the debt of the unforgettable impression of the American soldiers he said.

"When the American divisions drove forward in the great offensives of 1918, they entered a region torn, desolated and trampled by the most tremendous battles of history. Destruction and death were everywhere but amid it all the little wild poppies bloomed on. When machine gun and shell fire took its toll from the American ranks, the poppy's nature's final offering lay on the graves of the dead. To us those poppies seemed to symbolize the brave spirit of our fallen comrades and when we returned home we made the poppy the memorial flower of the American Legion."

Poppies to be worn in tribute to the men who gave their lives for America in the World War will be offered on the streets throughout the city Saturday, May 26th, by the American Legion Auxiliary units of the Legion are cooperating in promotion of the project. The poppies, paper replicas of the flowers that grew on the battle fields, have been made by disabled veterans at Legion Hospital. All contributions received for the poppies will be devoted to the rehabilitation and welfare work of the Legion and Auxiliary among the disabled veterans and the dependent veterans of the veterans.

Large Attendance For Golden Jubilee Banquet Expected

Concrete Pouring On Highway 22 Is Started Tuesday

Pouring of the 18-foot concrete slab on the 6.3 miles of Highway 22 from the Corsicana-State Home slab to the northwestern extremity of Consolidated Road District No. 1 was started Tuesday morning, May 28 at 7:30 in the school cafeteria. An interesting musical program has been arranged by Mrs. W. K. Steele, and will be of interest to all the ex-students of the high school. The program will be announced in Saturday's Daily Sun.

Mrs. Wes Redden and her committee have charge of arranging the menu, and have promised a delicious plate. Mrs. Lynne A. Wortham, is chairman of the decorations committee for the banquet, and advance indications are that it will be one of the most beautiful banquets given in Corsicana in some time.

Tickets will be fifty-cents each. Several classes plan to attend the banquet 100 per cent and in body, and letters have been received from graduates in distant cities, and will be read at the banquet.

Mrs. R. B. Mitchell is chairman of the banquet ticket sales, and is being assisted by the following committee:

Mrs. Clark Bell, Mrs. Lynne Wortham, Mrs. Kirke Steel, Dr. H. B. Lee, Hallie McClure, Katherine Shell Pinkerton, Estelle Skelton, Chase Bannister, Edgar Metcalf, Gabe Goldberg, Evelyn Spikes, Mrs. Kate Purifoy, Mrs.

J. S. Murchison, Billie Ruth Young, Mrs. Allyn Gordon, Margaret Panill, Mrs. Ross Sutton, Mrs. Allen Edens, Mrs. Lyda Kate Wood, Mrs. Jester Pittman, Fannie Beth Hardison, Mrs. Allyn Lang, Elsie Jester, Lawrence Ransom, Joe Wolens, Mrs. Pink Hayes, Mrs. Undine Wood Smith, Mrs. E. M. Polk Jr., Mrs. Wesley Edens, Helen Hume and Elizabeth Kelton.

The committee in charge of the banquet preparations urges everyone to purchase his ticket by Friday night, May 26, in order that they will know how many plates to prepare. They ask the co-operation of all planning to attend to purchase their tickets early.

BIG MAIL ROBBERY PARTICIPANT HELD IN ROBLES KIDNAP

KERENS, May 23.—(UPI)—A light rain fell over this part of the county Tuesday morning, putting a stop to oat cutting for a short time. Practically one-half of the oats crop has been harvested. Farmers having oats say its the best crop they have had for a long time.

Cotton and corn are growing nicely. While corn is late in some places, it is looking good. A rain, while not needed on crops, would help gardens on the black land, as they are beginning to burn in places.

Sorghum, maize and other small grains are good. Crop prospects are good here, and farmers and merchants are optimistic about the future.

The suspect, Joe Newton, refused to make any statements regarding the kidnaping, in which the ransom was not paid, or the robbery of a Medford, Okla., bank, the charge on which he was arrested here last night.

Officers said Newton had been under surveillance for several days, during which time he had made nocturnal visits here from a mine in Sonora, Mexico, a locality in which an intensive search was conducted for the Robles girl before she was found.

Sheriff's investigators said Newton made telephone calls to Tucson from the old Robles ranch here and Sasebo at the border. They said they had learned he lived at the mine, 45 miles below the international line, with a brother, Tull.

With three other brothers, Willie, Willis and Jesse, department of justice records here disclosed, Joe served a federal prison sentence for participation in a $2,000,000 train mail robbery at Rondout, Ill., in 1924.

Sheriff John Belton of Pima county said June had given him some information regarding the men who held her captive in a desert pit about 10 miles south of here and he indicated this information had led to putting Newton under surveillance.

June was kidnaped as she returned home from school here April 25 and found in the desert 19 days later by Pima County Attorney Clarence Houston and his uncle, Carlos G. Robles, assistant county attorney. They were directed to her hiding spot by an anonymous letter from Chicago.

THE NAZI CLIMAX

The best description we have seen of Nazi Germany is this little paragraph in a New York paper:

"Germany is said to be rapidly approaching the stage where there will be nobody left to stand on the sidewalk and watch the paraders go by."

When that time comes, the parade will stop. It is hard for any parade, especially a goosestep parade, to continue when no one is looking on. In this country parades usually go to pieces when they get to the edge of the business section.

The present German enthusiasm for marching will probably last as long as there is a grandstand left, and as long as there is one man in that grand stand.

Everyone has a guess as to who that man will be.

From present trends, we may expect the day to come

when the whole German nation, including invalids and children, will pass in review

before the All-Highest Brown Shirt, then the whole

60,000,000 of them will

mass and stand with right

forearm raised at the correct angle, while the All-

Highest harrangues them

for six hours.

Prophetic vision extends

no farther than that. It would take a very climatic artist to build up a greater climax.

BLOOD PRESSURE AND TEMPER

A doctor with an investigating turn of mind accompanied a golf player around the links, taking his blood pressure every little while.

At the start, it registered

170. It jumped around thereafter, going higher when the golfer drove out of bounds, drove three balls in to the water, and so on.

From a high of 245 it dropped to 220 when he rested.

Half an hour after he had completed the eighteen holes it had declined to 210.

The conclusion drawn

was that golf players in middle life or later should have thorough physical examinations at the start of every golf season, and should stay out of the game

if they have any heart trouble.

It should be noted, however, that the blood pressure in the man observed

rose with the player's emotions and temper. It is possible that if he played in a different mood—one, say, in which he merely enjoyed

the exercise without straining greatly for a good score

—his blood pressure would not rise so alarmingly. Instead of having to give up golf because of a physical weakness, therefore, a calm

man might play as much as he liked. He would be safer than a nervous or iritable man playing the same number of holes.

Now, before golfers are all scared away from their favorite game, why not take the blood pressure of people

at movies, or reading

murder mysteries, or even chasing the neighbor's chickens out of the garden?

If we're not willing to revive international trade by admitting more foreign goods in order to sell more of our own abroad, why not go the whole distance, and every business in this country try to get ahead by destroying the domestic market for every other American business?

Sure, there's hope for us.

With the boom in refrigerators and air-conditioning, it looks as if we're going to keep cool hereafter.

THE IDLER

Mrs. Gottalotofmoney hadn't anything to do. So she made herself a nuisance unto everyone she knew. Since her maid did all the housework and her cooks got all the meals. And there always was a servant treading close upon her heels. She went seeking entertainment, not from things to do or see. But from people round about her who were cleverer than she.

Mrs. Gottalotofmoney used to go from place to place, with silk raiment on her body and a smile upon her face. But she hadn't had a baby, so of little children small, Or the colic or the measles she could never talk at all. She had never mixed a pudding, nor had she never made a bed. So her friends could not remember any helpful word she's said.

Mrs. Gottalotofmoney wasn't viciously inclined. She was just an idle woman who had nothing on her mind: Just a pleasant sort of person, who was very often pained. When busy people wouldn't jump to keep her entertained. And, since friends refused to do it, she was left upon the shelf. A dull and lonely woman who could not amuse herself.

LIBERALS AND RADICALS

Speaking of radicalism, as a good many people are doing nowadays, here is a controversial definition that is not vouched for, but is passed along as interesting. It comes from the much-criticized Professor Tugwell. He denies that he is a radical, insists that he is a liberal, and explains the distinction thus:

"The essential difference between the liberal and the radical view of the tasks which lie before us is that liberalism requires experimenting, and that radicalism rejects it for immediate entry upon revolutionary tactics. Liberals would like to rebuild the station while the trains are running. Radicals prefer to blow up the station and forego service until the new structure is built."

That seems to describe the difference between the present American whatever it is and the Russian Bolshevik revolution.

And now will some qualified person tell us just what a conservative is. We might assume offhand that he would keep on using the old station. But how long? And with or without renovating?

THE MOTHER-JUROR

When women began serving on juries, there was much doubt expressed as to whether they were judicial-minded enough. There is not much of that doubt left.

Whatever their feelings may be, their verdicts appear no more sentimental than a man's, if indeed as much so.

Here is a case in point which occurred just the other day in Medina, O. A woman member of the grand jury was faced with the problem of voting on the indictment of her own son on a burglary charge. She knew when she was subpoenaed for the grand jury that his case might come up, and she might have begged off. She decided that "duty came before mother love."

When her son's case was called, she weighed the evidence and then calmly voted, with the other jurors, to indict him. Then, in her capacity as mother, she advised the boy to plead guilty.

And does the boy hold it against her? Not at all. "It was sure nice of mother to serve on a jury that was hearing my case," he says. There must be something to that son.

Whatever the government may continue doing about "subsistence farms," there are several million private citizens looking around to get themselves one.

The Senate has passed a bill to prevent the Administration from controlling national conventions. But who'll keep the Senate from running them?

If you must gamble in stocks, remember what a consistent long-run winner says: "Always do the opposite of what everybody else is doing."

Wall Street doesn't really mean to go out of business, and stocks will probably turn up again after the government has quit spank-

MILDRED FUTURE
FARMERS IMPROVE
NATIVE PECANS

MILDRED, May 24—A total of 70 buds of the Indian Burkett and Halbert varieties were placed on native pecan trees by the members of the first year vocational agriculture class. These trees, located on the McRae ranch, were budded May 9.

The patch bud was used and covered with the parafin cloth. Upon examination May 22, sixty-nine of the 70 buds were found to be living. This is a very unusual record in plant propagation. 50 per cent living buds is considered good in budding during May.

Seven large trees were dehorned in March by the Mildred Future Farmers. These trees will be budded in April and July. Burkett buds are used mostly due to their adaptability to soil conditions of the Mildred community.

COTTON EXPERIMENT BE MADE BY FUTURE FARMERS OF MILDRED

MILDRED, May 24—"What variety of cotton is most profitable for Navarro county farmers to produce?" The Mildred Future Farmers chapter has taken steps to answer this question by conducting a test of 13 varieties of cotton on a piece of land adjoining the school house.

The land for the experiment was donated by Mr. Cerf of Corsicana. It is of average fertility, having been out of cultivation for the last 10 years.

Most of the work will be done in the hours under the supervision of the teacher. The eight acres is divided into one-half acre plots. Careful records are kept on the labor and expense involved in the project.

Special attention will be given to earliness or maturity, stand or germinating number of bolls to each stalk, height of plant, size of boll, length of staple, production, and storm resistance.

The 13 varieties planted on this demonstration plot include: Quaker, Texan, Special, Russell, Elm, Bob, Sunshine, Bryant, Melrose, Bagley, Melrose, Hanner, Melrose, Original, One-half and One-half Acala, Waco, Lankart, W. X. L.

This is the first test of thinking ever conducted on the Wilson-Crockett series of soil and will be of special interest and benefit to farmers of the Mildred-Eureka communities.

YOUNG PEOPLE'S EPWORTH UNION IN MONTHLY SESSION

The Young People's Epworth Union met Tuesday night, May 22 at the Eleventh Avenue Methodist church.

A short devotional program under the leadership of the president of the union, Mrs. Holloway, was as follows:

Song—"Footsteps of Jesus."

Prayer by Rev. J. F. Adams.

Song—"Jesus Calls Us."

After the short devotional program Mrs. J. F. Adams of Eleventh Avenue Methodist church was elected adult counselor of the union; Mrs. L. K. Carraway, Miss Tatum, and Rev. Bernard McCord were appointed judges for the stunt contests; and the count was taken for the pennant race.

The stunts drew many laughs and another one was good enough to win first place. The old Ford stunt was taken out by Eleventh Avenue Methodist, a mirrored stunt was put on by First Methodist, and Keren's sponsored "Miss Popular." All but one were based on the Young People's Assembly at Georgetown.

Both first places in the pennant and stunt contests went to Eleventh Avenue Methodist and both second places went to Keren's. Eleventh Avenue Methodist had 93 points for the pennant race and 3 votes for the best stunt. Keren's came in with 81 points and 2 votes, and First Methodist had 67 points and 1 vote.

de Barrow's Crime Career Started Eight Years Ago in Dallas

DALLAS, May 23.—(P)—Clyde Barrow, furtive killer reported shot to death with Bonnie Parker, his woman companion, in a clash with officers in Louisiana, became one of the nation's most dangerous outlaws through his ruthless resort to firearms whenever he encountered difficulties in carrying out the robberies he undertook.

Most of the victims credited to his deadly machine gun and pistol fire fell without having a chance to protect themselves. Barrow, who started out as an automobile thief in Dallas and blamed his subsequent depredations on officers mistreating him, displayed a bitter hatred of the law and its enforcers, especially in the last two years when he has been hunted incessantly throughout the southwest.

He was first arrested in Dallas for automobile theft in December, 1926, but got off light. In 1930 he was convicted of automobile theft at Waco and sentenced to 14 years. Ross S. Sterling, former governor of Texas, granted the young desperado a general parole in February, 1932. From that time Barrow blazed a bloody trail across the southwest and, aided by his bank robbing partner Raymond Hamilton, was involved in several raids on small-town banks.

The first murder charged against him was that of a Hillsboro filling station operator, J. N. Bucher, in a hold-up. Then he was mixed up in the killing of an officer at Atoka, Okla. The murder of Howard Hall, grocery clerk at Sherman, also was attributed to him; these three killings occurred in 1932.

Gains Killer Reputation.

Last year Barrow, still a relatively small-time robber, had gained a reputation as a killer and officers were hot on his trail. In January officers set a trap for him in Dallas and Deputy Sheriff Malcolm Davis of Tarrant county was killed in it.

Barrow jumped to Joplin, Mo., and there was credited with another murder.

The next killing laid to him was that of Marshal Henry Humphrey, in Van Buren, Ark., in July, he shot his way out of a posse of officers in Iowa. His brother, Buck, was killed in that affray. In November, he shot out of another group of officers near Dallas.

Early Sunday of the year two Texas highway patrolmen rode up to a automobile parked on a side road near Grapevine. As they dismounted from their motorcycles and started walking toward the car, bitterly unaware of danger, a man and a woman leaped out of the car and cut them down with shotgun charges at close range. The officers died without having a chance to draw their pistols. A whiskey bottle found at the scene of the cold-blooded killing bore Barrow's fingerprints. The woman was thought to be Bonnie Parker.

Arrogant and boastful, Barrow and his gang displayed an arrogant and disdainful respect for the law and has been vainglorious in his black record. Pictures showing the outlaw posing with a machine gun in his hands have fallen into the hands of officers and capsule confederates have told of his cocky attitude. Bonnie Parker, the wife of a convict, demonstrated since equal vanity as a criminal. She, too, has posed for numerous pictures with her belt weighed down with pistol and another pointing at the photographs.

Both the two have been living a precarious life, barefacing officers no dozens of occasions. They have hid out in woods, eating canned goods and sandwiches, then driving hundred-mile miles to some other isolated spot to keep officers off their trail. They had a dozen hideouts in the Southwest and flitted from one to another. Stolen cars were their mode of travel and they bore the reputation of driving at furious speed, when pressed.

Through the assistance of criminally-minded friends, they were often able to get tips that officers were close upon them and thus escape capture. Late, however, officers have rounded up everybody thought to have had any connection with them and, as a result, the chances of the desperate couple continuing at large for long were greatly reduced. It had been the opinion of officers for many months that Barrow would never be caught alive, since he had the electric chair before him.

Barrow never was the leader of a little gang, but usually had two or three followers, the most faithful of which was Bonnie Parker, who officers have been told, took great pride in her handiness with firearms. There has been ample proof that she on frequent occasions has stood by the East Dallas hoodlum and fired shot for shot with him at enemies.

Only a few months ago, the pair were able to slip into Dallas and spend some time in hiding, but officers were cut off all these sources of protection and Barrow and his woman partner in crime were forced to take their chances afied.

Bonnie Parker was the wife of Roy Thornton, serving time in the Texas penitentiary at present for bank robbery. Thornton, before his conviction, was a member of a gang of robbers who used acetylene torches in night raids on country banks in Texas.

to the relief commission releasing restrictions on $750,000, which was to have been used exclusively for materials. This $750,000 may now be used by the relief commission to prosecute the relief program in the drought area, including the purchase of feed for stock and forage crops and the program on the highways.

Hopkins stated the highway program offers an admirable means of only meeting the needs of distressed families, but at the same time providing much-needed highways in the Panhandle of Texas.

The federal government, Hopkins stated, is assuming the responsibility of meeting the human needs in the drought area as well as the provisions for live stock and forage crops. These grants are to be over and above any matching arrangements that the federal emergency relief administration has with the Texas relief commission, relative to the general relief program in the state.

FRANK HAMER HAD BEEN PUT ON TRAIL OF BARROW BY STATE

NOTED TEXAS PEACE OFFICER PROVES NEMESIS TO KILLER AND HIS WOMAN

AUSTIN, May 23.—(P)—L. G. Phares, chief of the State Highway Patrol, announced today that he was informed by Frank Hamer, in a telephone conversation that Clyde Barrow, notorious Southwest desperado, and Bonnie Parker, his companion, were killed today near Shreveport, La.

Hamer, former Texas ranger; B. M. Gault, highway patrolman, and Ted Hinton and Bob Alcorn, Dallas county sheriffs, encountered Barrow and the Parker woman at Black Lake, 80 miles south of Shreveport. Phares was advised.

"The job is done," Hamer told Phares over the telephone. "We killed Clyde and Bonnie at 9:15 this morning. They were at Black Lake, a hideout we had been watching for weeks. Clyde and Bonnie did not get to the show. Their car was full of guns and ammunition, but they did not get a chance to use them."

In a later conversation with Hamer, Phares asked the veteran officer to tell him "all about it." "Well, chief, there ain't much to it," Hamer replied. "They just drove into the wrong place. Both of them died with their guns in their hands, but they did not have a chance to use them. We got them as they drove into their hide-out."

"Who did the shooting?" asked Phares.

"All of us," Hamer replied. Phares said Hamer stated they were en route to Arcadia, La.

Phares' men had been hunting the desperado since Easter Sunday when two highway patrolmen were shot dead from their motorcycles near Grapevine by a man and a woman who were known as his woman companion in crime.

Floyd Hamilton and Mrs. Billie Mace, a sister of Bonnie also were accused of the patrolmen's murder and were indicted this week by a Tarrant county grand jury.

One of Best Known Officers

Hamer is one of the State's best known peace officers. He retired as captain of the Texas rangers' headquarters company when the Ferguson administration was induced nearly two years ago. He was succeeded by his brother, D. E. Hamer, of Dallas.

Frank Hamer had participated in the solution of many crimes in this state.

Phares revealed that Hamer had been commissioned a patrolman to help hunt down the Southwest's most feared criminal.

He said Hamer and Gault had been assigned exclusively to the Barrow-Parker hunt. They had operated in Texas, Oklahoma, Missouri, Arkansas and Louisiana.

For two months they had been watching the Black Lake hideout, Phares said. Several weeks ago they barely missed the couple at their favorite rendezvous. After that they adopted a policy of "sitting and waiting," Phares said.

They also had watched hideouts along the Trinity river, near Corsicana, Nacogdoches and Dallas, where the killers had obtained "good protection," Phares said.

Phares said payment of rewards for Barrow and the woman, "dead or alive," would be withheld pending trial of Billie Mace and Floyd Hamilton at Fort Worth. The patrol chief had guaranteed a reward of $1,000 for slayers of the patrolmen. He had collected about $4,000 in free-will contributions. He said from this amount would come some expenditures for expenses incurred incident to the hunt for the killers.

It had been said of him that, although he has been in tight places with bad men, who were especially alert in an effort to "get" Frank Hamer, he never did direct a bullet at an outlaw's back. He always waited until he would face him.

Hamer has credit for solving many crime mysteries. He always worked quietly. His attire always has been that of a business man except for a wide brimmed black hat he liked to wear. One never could detect a pistol on his person and he seldom, if ever, wore boots.

Hamer's Record Long And Brilliant One

AUSTIN, May 23.—(P)—Frank Hamer, 50 year old, six foot three, has been one of Texas' principal keepers of the peace since he was a lad serving with the late Captain J. H. Rogers of the Rangers on the Mexican border.

He learned to shoot aiming at squirrels on his father's farm in

Both Mrs. Parker and Mrs. Barrow said yesterday, shortly after they received word of the double killing, that they did not want funeral services. However, the Rev. Clifford Drew, pastor of the Full Gospel Church, a small mission in a thickly-settled community, will be in charge of both rituals.

Clyde's body was brought to Dallas by the undertaking company which made a contract with the Barrow family several months to bury him if officers should ever kill him or he should be electrocuted for his crimes of eight years. The body bore 40 bullet holes.

Officers are resting.

Meanwhile, Ted Hinton and Bob Alcorn, Dallas county deputies who were in the party of officers which called on the desperadoes to halt their flight, cut them down, remained in Arcadia to rest from their long, six-weeks vigil. R. A. (Smoot) Schmid, the Dallas sheriff, and other officers went to Louisiana to join them.

Two other officers in the group were Frank Hamer, once captain on the Texas ranger force, and B. M. Gault, special officer of the Texas highway patrol.

Mrs. Parker said the Rev. Andrew volunteered his services and she accepted. He was the one who tried in vain to prevent the recent electrocution of Dewey Ham, another young West Dallas man for the slaying three years ago of a street car motorman.

"I have said that I will not permit Bonnie and Clyde to be buried side by side," Mrs. Parker said. "I have not talked to Mrs. Barrow and our plans may be changed."

Plan to View Body.

Mrs. Parker planned to view her daughter's body late today. Mrs. Leila Blumner, sister and daughter-in-law of Mrs. Parker, left for Fort Worth in an effort to obtain the release on bond of Mrs. Billy Mace, Bonnie's sister, held on a murder charge for the slaying of two highway patrolmen near Grapevine Easter.

L. C. Barrow, Clyde's brother, was released from the county jail on $2,500 bond so that he might attend the funeral services. He had been held several months on a highway robbery charge.

Attendants at the undertaking establishment set out to embalm the bodies while thousands of curious spectators gathered eager to see the remains of the couple who had married the southwest. Special police details turned back the throngs and only officers, relatives and newspapermen were granted admittance to the embalming room.

Clyde's body was torn almost to fragments. The back of his head was shot away. His left shoulder was blown into bits and his body was punctured with bullets. The body had to be embalmed in sections.

Wilson county, in South Texas, and always had hankering, like most Lone Star state youths of that age, to be Texas Ranger. His father worked at blacksmithing, and young Frank often took his turn at the anvil. That may be the reason for his physique.

For 30 years he had served as a Ranger "off and on" as his brother, D. E. Hamer, now captain of Headquarters company in Austin, put it. The present captain of Headquarters company, succeeded his brother, Frank, in that place when Governor Miriam A. Ferguson came to the governor's chair in January 1933. He also was "out" as a ranger during Mrs. Ferguson's first tenure in 1924-25.

During those periods when he was not actually doing duty as a Ranger he was employed in various capacities as a peace officer.

It is tightlipped. He has no sympathy for officers who talk of their experiences. He always kept his mouth closed when in the company of newspapermen and never would give them an inkling of his plans or reveal any of his accomplishments.

It has been said of him that, although he has been in tight places with bad men, who were especially alert in an effort to "get" Frank Hamer, he never did direct a bullet at an outlaw's back. He always waited until he would face him.

Hamer has credit for solving many crime mysteries. He always worked quietly. His attire always has been that of a business man except for a wide brimmed black hat he liked to wear. One never could detect a pistol on his person and he seldom, if ever, wore boots.

Congressman Francis Shoemaker (F-L) one of those arrested in Minneapolis riots, was convicted last night of disorderly conduct and ordered to pay a fine of $50 or serve 10 days in jail. Sentence was stayed.

Another walkout was ordered on the Pacific coast in sympathy with the two weeks-old strike of shipping workers. The latest walkout involves 1,000 masters, mates and pilots of San Francisco. The shipping workers' strike, leaders declared, affects 25,000 men.

In the midst of the labor troubles came a government report of increased employment, payrolls and factory production. The report, covering the month of April, was issued by the federal reserve board. It showed the general commodity price level marking time.

GALVESTON, May 24.—(Spl.)—The strike of a small group of seamen continued at the docks here today and pickets remained along the waterfront.

The Tanker Chillicothe shifted from Texas City to the roads but was unable to sail with its oil cargo for the north Atlantic because of a walkout of a number of men.

While ship operators said the sailing schedule had not been disturbed, seamen were firm in their statements that no American ship was not affected to some extent.

Licensed master's mates and pilots and marine engineers, meanwhile, were waiting a reply from heads of towing concerns relative to demands for restoration of the 1929 wage scale conditions.

TEXAS TO RECEIVE VERY SUBSTANTIAL SUM FOR RELIEF

KANSAS CITY, May 24.—(Spl.)—A definite agreement was to be signed with the Texas relief delegation to be signed by the Texas relief delegation and Administrator Harry L. The Texans presented to the administrator a situation which they described as acute, especially the drought stricken Panhandle where they said a third successive crop failure had occurred.

Their plight was perhaps the most serious laid down by the state leaders who conferred with Hopkins and his assistants.

The pair thought they were going to join friends when they were suddenly attacked and riddled with fifty bullets before they could raise their guns as they sped along a gravelled road a few miles south of here. This tipster will receive $2,500 reward offered for the man and woman bandits "dead or alive."

The bodies of the murderous pair were taken in their automobile to this town where they were placed in an undertaking establishment and a curious public allowed to parade by to view the riddled corpses.

Parade Finally Stopped.

The town and country-side seemed with excitement and curiosity and thousands poured into town to view the sight. The parade of the public was not ended until Barrow's father and his other relatives from Dallas in two ambulances to claim the bodies. Officers headed the procession of the father to stop the line of the curious.

Even after the bodies had been removed from the town, crowds of people stood about the streets discussing the killings of the man and woman who had ranged about the neighborhood for several days.

Hamer said he hated having to shoot a woman, especially while she was sitting down, but it was either her's or the officers' lives at stake. He said the officers gave them a chance to surrender before firing but when they elected to fight they had no other course except to shoot. He said Barrow and Bonnie were given more of a chance than they had given any of their victims, whom they usually killed in cold blood.

Barrow, charged with twelve murders and more robberies, had been hunted for months by Hamer and staff of assistants assigned to this duty alone. Bonnie Parker, who joined Barrow in his late crimes and stood by his side with a belching gun as he fought with officers, also was sought by the law. The pair had been trailed 15,000 miles over a half dozen states. They managed to elude arrests or shoot their way out of ambuses when they ran into the trap yesterday.

FUTURE FARMERS OF MILDRED COMPLETING SUCCESSFUL YEAR

"Serving while learning" has been the motto of the Mildred vocational agriculture boys during the 1933-34 school year. Most of the practice work has been done by the boys on the farms in the Mildred-Eureka communities.

Mildred Future Farmers list of benefits to the community included running terrace lines on 300 acres of land; 75 fruit trees planted; 35 cows dehorned; 25 calves dehorned, with caesare; 125 calves vaccinated for blackleg; 8 laying flocks culled; 40 lambs docked; 40 lambs castrated; 12 varieties of cotton seed tested for germination; insects controlled on three acres of garden space; pecan cases bearer controlled on five pecan trees; rice controlled on 55 hens.

In addition to the above jobs each boy has completed 15 jobs of a similar nature on his home farm. At least one project has been carried to completion by each boy. Some of the projects owned by the Future Farmers include 5 acres of cotton for lint production, 150 chicks for broiler production, 20 hens for egg production, and 25 hens for egg production.

The above named accomplishments are a few of the many benefits derived from the vocational agriculture department by the farmers of the Mildred community during 1933-34.

Separate burials will be held for the man and woman who had been inseparable in recent months. Barrow's mother objected to double funeral services in Dallas and demanded a separate service for her son.

The Rev. Clifford Andrews of Dallas will officiate at both services, however. Barrow will be buried beside his brother, Marvin, who was fatally wounded in a fight with police near Dexter, Iowa, last July. Bonnie Parker will be buried beside her niece.

BEAUTY CHATS

By EDNA KENT FORBES

All requests for beauty information desired by Edna Kent Forbes entitle the author to a full self-addressed, stamped envelope and two cents postage, to cover cost of mailing and handling. NEWS FROM ENGLAND.

The Newest Thing. From England, where Miss Forbes has gone on a trip to see what may be new in the beauty line comes news of the latest thing—petticoats—for fashion and beauty. Even after a short absence from Europe, you see new things, especially in beauty and in fashions. Two things struck me forcibly on landing in England this last time after a much delayed journey from Liverpool to London, because the railway lines were full of special trains taking people home on spring holidays. One thing was the new and amazingly sleek way the women are making themselves up, and with this, very oddly in contrast, a return to Victorian petticoats and ruffles.

Yes, ruffled taffeta petticoats, and very useful with the new evening gowns, too. The new styles, as you know, are all cut bias, and therefore they must spread to outline the hips, also they must cling to much of the figure just under the hips, and in effect this clinging line is accentuated by the deep inserts in back, to give the very newest gowns a train in back—the petticoat.

It clings very close to the hips, indeed, the best of these are fitted by skilled dressmakers, not bought ready made. From just above the knees, the petticoat begins to flare, thus holding out the clinging bias skirt. If there are ruffles on the petticoat, and in the pack only, four to seven tiers of them, to follow that train. If the dress has no train or a very small one, there are two to four tiers of ruffles all round, front and back. Amazing how this changes the set of a skirt and how it improves the dress. And, of course, there was always a certain charm in the old days when the lifted skirt showed a glimpse of delicately colored ruffles.

Have you a dress which does not please you? Ruffled taffeta in particular may be the saving of it. We've done the clinging dress type so long we have forgotten the usefulness of petticoats.

Mrs. J. K. Rice powder should be avoided for the complexion, as it may clog the pores if retained on the skin for very long. The only objection to it is because it smells if in contact with moisture.

Mrs. H. C.—Camphor reduces by drying out the fatty tissues directly.

Execution Stay Granted Negro Slayer Tuesday

AUSTIN, May 22.—(P)—Governor Miriam A. Ferguson has ordered a stay of execution until June 1 for Nathan Brooks, Houston negro, who was to have been electrocuted in the state penitentiary Sunday next.

Brooks was convicted of the slaying of Ollie Lee Morris, negro, May 5, 1933. She was stabbed to death.

The governor granted the reprieve because the execution date fell on Sunday, she said.

New York Cotton Steady. NEW YORK, May 24.—(AP)—Cotton opened barely steady. 5 to 10 lower in response to the latest weather reports. May 11.23; July 11.28; Oct. 11.48; Dec. 11.60; Jan. 11.75; March 11.75.

The market held fairly steady right after the close. Offerings were light and a scattering demand caused rallies of 2 or 3 cents. The market, slightly steadier in the stock market, may have brought in a little buying while there was covering and a moderate demand from the mills.

Houses with foreign connections were reported buyers at the opening but were not bold signs of the market price seemed to come in a little later, after they bought during the first half hour.

Trading in current May contracts ended at 11.17 during the early trading under a little belated liquidation, the price with the last report of 11.25.

The market held fairly steady with scattered demand absorbed by the trade or covering at 11.17. The market was trading around 11.28 and December 11.58, or about 6 to 8 points net lower.

New Orleans Cotton Steady. NEW ORLEANS, May 24.—(AP)—Cotton opened steady today as cables came in slightly lower than due and there were some overnight selling orders in evidence at the start.

Trading was very modest and as the stock market opened somewhat earlier the market held quiet later in the morning but held fairly steady with scattered liquidation absorbed by the trade or covering at 11.17. The market was trading around 11.28 and December 11.58, or about 6 to 8 points net lower.

There was some little selling May at easier prices as that option expired this morning.

The market held very quiet all morning, but prices improved slightly in sympathy with stocks and due to too much rain in the market.

Late in the morning, July 1, traded at 11.30; October at 11.48 and December at 11.58, up to four points up from the early low, down to two to four points below yesterday's close.

Near mid-morning prices eased off one point from the best on a little long liquidation.

and more serious disturbances did not begin until after noon.

Behind the guardsmen's gas squads were ominous-looking machine gun emplacements, manned by grim troopers ready to open fire should life be endangered and the crowd get completely out of control.

Warrants for the arrest of C. O. Jinger, president of the Electric Auto-Lite company and J. Arthur Minch, vice-president, were issued here today on affidavits made by John J. Flynn, charging the company officials with maintaining a public nuisance.

Flynn swore out the warrant after he said his home, which is across the street from the Auto-Lite plant, had been filled with tear gas bombs thrown from the plant during the rioting yesterday, driving out Flynn's wife and infant daughter.

By W. H. MYLANDER (Associated Press Staff Writer.)

TOLEDO, O., May 24.—(AP)—bayonet, and machine guns of naval guardsmen ringed the little scared plant of the Electric Auto-Lite company, while a ring of rioters, which had scored with broken bones, lacerations and smearing eyes.

The 700 militiamen under the command of Brigadier General L. S. Connelly, patrolled a restricted area of six blocks around the plant after arriving at 5:45 a.m. to lift a siege of striking automotive workers and their sympathizers which had held 1,500 employed virtually prisoners in the factory for 18 hours.

None of the authorized persons were allowed near the plant as the guardsmen, under a procedure described as "military" aid of civil authorities, and not martial law, took charge of a situation which police and Sheriff D. Krieger admitted they could not control.

Weary employees, many of whom had aided police in guarding the plant during the rioting which caused damage estimated by J. Arthur Minch, Auto-Lite vice-president, at $150,000, left the factory and were taken to their home in company automobiles after the troops arrived.

The crowd of strikers, sympathizers and spectators which thronged the plant from 3:30 p.m. yesterday until long after midnight had dwindled to a score or so when the guardsmen appeared. A chilling rain had driven most of the crowd to shelter.

CORSICANA CIVIC LEADERS DISCUSS RELIEF WORK HERE

C. OF C. MAKING EFFORT TO SECURE AIR CORPS TECHNICAL SCHOOL

Agreeing that the present policies and administration of relief in Navarro county were unsatisfactory, members of the board of directors of the Corsicana Chamber of Commerce and invited guests of the evening decided that no official action on the part of the chamber would be left up to the entire citizenry.

In a special message, the President recommended that congress declare American policy to be to enlarge the use of silver "with the ultimate objective" of having one-fourth of the monetary stocks in silver and three-fourths in gold.

This proposal which would be mandatory, represented the compromise worked out during prolonged negotiations between members of the Senate silver bloc and the administration.

Another clause would authorize the President to take over the nation's monetary silver stock just as was done in gold. This provision would be subject to a fine of $10,000 or 10 years imprisonment.

The bill authorizes the President to "investigate, regulate or otherwise add to or subtract from the monetary value of the silver less deductions for seigniorage, brasse, coinage, or other minor charges."

AN'S TREATMENT OF MAN IS JUDGMENT DAY CRITERION*

An Awesome Picture of Last Great Day, Jesus
Puts Human Helpfulness as Supreme Test
Every Man's Serious Thoughts About a Supreme Being and His Nature.

By WILLIAM T. ELLIS

"Tell you, there is somebody, Paul. 'The love of Christ constraineth me.' In his war-time 'Rough Rhymes of a Padre,' Rev. G. A. Studdert Kennedy makes the idea concrete:

"And yet, I remember, a lad o' mine,

'E's fightin' now on the sea,

And 'e's we're thorn in 'm' mother's side,

And the plague o' my life to me,

Lord 'ow I used to swish that lad,

Till 'e fairly yelped wi' pain,

But fast as I thrashed one devil out,

Another popped in again,

And at last, when 'e grew up a strapping lad,

E ups and e' says to me,

My will's my own and my life's my own,

And I'm goin' Dad, to sea!"

Well, maybe, that's 'ow it is wi' God,

'Is sons 'av got to be free;

Their wills are their own, and their lives their own,

And that's 'ow it is to be.

So the Father God goes sorrowing still,

For 'Is world what 'as gone to sea,

But 'E runs up a light on Calvary's 'ight

That beckons to you and me."

Every Man At The Bar.

Obviously, unless God be an absent landlord, He must assure that justice be done, either here or hereafter; and with Him "a thousand years are as a day," otherwise, mortals would be adrift in a meaningless, orderless world. It is inconceivable that there should be a Supreme Authority at work in the universe who is uninterested in man, the only member of creation with the ability to reason and to seek after knowledge of his Creator. As the supreme concern of man is God, so it would also seem that the supreme concern of God is man.

In His own way and time, such a Being must administer the affairs of His creation. It is unthinkable that God should be a more benevolent influence, indifferent to those moral qualities in man which are derived from His own nature. Jellyfish minds demand the Almighty as the embodiment of sweetness and light, indifferent to justice (which, as Webster once declared, "is the supreme concern of heaven on earth and the righteousness of God is ordering the affairs of the world, it is monstrous to suppose that responsible moral beings could be permitted, without or punishment, to devote themselves to evil, working harm to their fellows flouting God and them in the end receive the same treatment as the seekers after God's will have nobly served their gen-

In other words, eternity makes right what is wrong in the world, and the righteous joke perpetrated by the Supreme Power is the last word.

Moderns ponder God. They

to Jesus as His interpreter. It is Christian belief that Christ is God; that the utterances of the Deity could reveal nothing concerning Himself was made plain by the One whom men call the Son of God. If you would know the nature of God, then consider Christ.

Modern mushy-mindedness has been busy with the figure of Jesus, also, diluting Him into a sweet, gentle, ineffective Teacher who was defeated in the end. I wonder if the influence of this heresy in schools and pulpits, "Centrist Jesus must be mild," has been wholly responsible for this?

For, while Jesus was love incarnate, He was also righteous incarnate. From kindly lips we have the stern picture of the Last Judgment—and, be it remembered, these were among His final words, spoken on Olivet to His disciples, a few days before He was crucified. That setting is important: The Man about to die was gathering up His life message for the instruction of those who were to carry it on to the world.

The Sheep and the Goats.

Under a pastoral imagery, familiar to His hearers, He declared that the good will ultimately be separated from the evil as the sheep from the goats. Palestine does not love goats. In earliest Hebrew ritual it was the goat, sin-laden, that was sent out into the wilderness. So even Jesus, lover of sheep, made the goats the symbol of the rejected.

Not to press the figure too far, we see that the sheep were friendly and obedient and useful; while the goats were obstreperous and mischievous. And with majestic simplicity, Jesus drew this same line of distinction between the ultimately accepted and rejected. In the Last Great Asses, the determining question will not be concerning one's theological beliefs or social standing or financial rating, but only whether, in the spirit of Jesus, we were ministers to men's needs.

There is something awesome in the way Jesus identifies Himself with mankind. To feed the hungry, give drink to the thirsty, entertain the stranger, clothe the naked, visit the sick and the prisoner is to do all unto Christ Himself.

"Inasmuch as ye did it unto one of the least, ye did it unto Me."

"Lord, the rebels cry, 'Lord, when saw we Thee?'"

"The hungry, the thirsty, the afflighed, or a stranger, or naked, or sick, or in prison, and did not minister unto Thee?"

Straight comes the answer of doom, "Inasmuch as ye did it not unto one of these least, ye did it not unto Me."

Thus was put into even the lowest service the highest motive. This truth lifts onto the highest plane all real social ministry. Myriad of Christians can say with
